PROJECT WORK REPORT

[Academic Session: 2022-2023]

Title: Project Work on Folk Art at Jitpur Village, Domkal Block, Murshidabad, West Bengal

Date: 04.04.2023

Place: Jitpur Village, Domkal Block, Murshidabad, West Bengal

❖ Objectives:

From time immemorial, West Bengal is famous for conch shell handicrafts. The project work is based on primary survey of conch shell units in Jitpur Village in Murshidabad. The gifted artisans of this village produce wonderful objects of craft from conch shell materials.

The project work aimed to achieve the following objectives:

- to identify the major challenges faced by the artisans for continuing their handicraft work.
- to raise awareness about historical, architectural and cultural significance of the area, ensuring that valuable heritage is preserved and protected.
- to provide an informative and educational experience for participants.
- to engage the local community in the preservation efforts, fostering a sense of pride and ownership in their heritage.
- to know the present condition of the conch shell industry in the state.

❖ Details:

History department of Hazi A. K. Khan College organized a heritage walk with the History Honours students of 2nd & 6th semester at Jitpur on 04.04.23. Through this project work students got ideas about the folk art of the rural areas of Murshidabad especially Conch Shell Industry at Jitpur. They also came to know the economic condition of the artisan group. During their visit students tried to identify the major problems faced by the craftsmen in the industry. The survey revealed that irregularity in the supply and continuous increase in prices of raw materials and monopoly of raw material suppliers caused great frustration to many household entrepreneurs. The study also found that despite the poor conditions of artisans, the conch shell industry still plays an important role in creating artistic value for the artisans by maintaining and carrying forward the cultural and religious legacy of the conch shells and also generates livelihood through creation of employment and income for the artisans.

❖ Target group:

Honours Students of Department of History

No. of students participated: 92 (Semester- IV & Semester VI History Honours)

❖ SWOC (Strengths-Weaknesses-Opportunities-Challenges):

Strengths- It was an attempt to assess the socio-economic problems of the artisans of the study area. A questionnaire was prepared for that purpose to fulfil the objectives of the study. Door to door survey, interviews etc. were done on that day to collect the quantitative and qualitative data for the preparation of field report. Relevant photos were also recorded during the survey.

The active involvement of 94 students and 3 teachers facilitated extensive data collection and meaningful engagement with the weaver community.

Weaknesses- It was difficult to understand problems and challenges faced by the artisans in this area in one day. This village is almost 12km away from Hazi A. K. Khan College.

Opportunities- It was an effort to achieve the empirical knowledge which is helpful to the students to enrich their knowledge.

Challenges- It was difficult to arrange such visit it requires lot of money. There were students of different socio-economic background. Most of the students were from villages and had some financial problems. In spite of these challenges, the visit was conducted and completed successfully.

Report on the Exhibition of History Department 'History of Hariharpara'

September 08, 2019

The teaching of local history as the part of the history curriculum has been advocated since the beginning of the twentieth century. Local history has been recommended as an active way of history learning in some countries. It provides us the details of regional nature, culture, tradition, etc. of a particular geographic locality. It also portrays a vivid picture of the behaviour of the inhabitants of that particular locality and their lifestyle. The students of History department of Hazi A. K. Khan College were encouraged to collect information about Hariharpara to familiarise them with the history of their own area and to give them an introductory grasp of the regional history. Students gathered information and wrote a brief history of Hariharpara. It was demonstrated on occasion of College Foundation Day i.e., September 08, 2019. Along with this, students exhibited crafts like sholapith, Brass and Bell Metal (Kansa), Gamchha, jute handicrafts, jute ornaments, wood carving, Kantha Stitch, clay modelling etc. to presents the economic activities of the native people.
