About the FDP

In the contemporary landscape of higher education, academic excellence extends far beyond classroom teaching. Faculty members today are expected to contribute meaningfully to research, innovation, institutional development, and academic leadership. Recognizing these emerging demands, Hazi A. K. Khan College is organizing a Faculty Development Programme on “Advancing Academic Excellence: Research, Innovation and Leadership in HEIs” for 6 days w.e.f. 10.04.26 - 18.04.26.

This programme seeks to provide a meaningful platform for reflection and professional enrichment by focusing on key dimensions of academic life in Higher Education Institutions. It aims to encourage faculty members to engage with current concerns such as research culture, innovative pedagogical practices, quality enhancement, institutional responsibility, and leadership in academic spaces.

The FDP is designed to encourage dialogue on how teachers can strengthen their roles not only as classroom instructors, but also as researchers, mentors, innovators, and academic leaders. It also highlights the importance of building a collaborative and forward-looking institutional culture in response to the changing needs of higher education.

Through expert sessions and academic interaction, the programme aspires to promote renewed commitment to quality, creativity, and excellence in teaching-learning and institutional development.
